Course Description:

World history is a one term survey of the developments and events from the Renaissance to the twentieth century. From a global perspective, events and forces will be examined that have been most important in producing today's world.

Course Objectives– The learner will:

1. Demonstrate an understanding of the institutional, cultural, and social forces that have shaped the people of the world from the Renaissance Era to the twentieth century.
2. Locate globally, regions, countries and cities whose particular histories have contributed to the development of the modern world.
3. Analyze the roles of various important and influential individuals who have contributed to the history of the world.
4. Develop a framework for understanding modern issues and problems based on their respective histories.
5. Examine the forces and issues that are currently prominent on the world stage and their historical relevance or current events and issues.

Course Expectations:

Readings: Students will be expected to read assigned passages prior to class meetings as well as outside material as it is necessary.

Assignments: All assignments and exams will be due on their assigned dates. In most cases, late work will only be accepted for half credit. Sloppy, cluttered, or inappropriately formatted assignments will not be accepted. Students are expected to complete all assignments and examinations on time. Students are expected to consult independently with the instructor regarding missing or late work.

Method of Evaluation: All work will be graded on a one hundred point scale and weighted accordingly:

Exams	25%
Classwork/ Homework	30%
Quizzes	10%
Notebook	25%
Participation	10%

Special projects typically count twice in the Exam category. Extra credit will be given at the discretion of the instructor.

Class Participation: Students are expected to participate in classroom discussion and in daily activities. Conversely, attendance, as well as acceptable classroom behavior is necessary to gain participation points.

Attendance: Regular class attendance is absolutely necessary.

Formal Projects: In addition to daily course activities, students will be expected to complete at least one formal project which will include a class presentation. These projects may be a variety of individual, as well as group work.
